

Senate Silence Is Frustrating For Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is finding the beginning of life as a vice president full of ceremonial duties, hard work on executive matters, unaccustomed silence and political frustrations.

Humphrey, who served as President Johnson's right arm in piloting controversial legislation such as the civil rights bill through the Senate last year, has found some doors closed to him as the nation's No. 2 elected official.

Among other things, he has been quietly excluded from meetings of the Senate Democratic Conference. The conference, of which all Democratic senators are members, has the final word on party strategy in the body.

Ruckus Avoided
The explanation for this exclusion is that the Democratic leadership was determined to avoid the kind of ruckus that erupted when Lyndon B. Johnson vacated the majority leadership to step into the vice presidency in 1961.

At that time, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposed the election of Johnson as presiding officer of the conference. Vice President Alben W. Barkley had established precedent for such procedure by presiding over conference meetings.

Mansfield's proposal touched off protests from Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee, Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Wayne Morse of Oregon, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois and A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

They contended that as a member of the executive branch, the vice president should not preside over legislative meetings. The conference elected Johnson but the 17 votes cast against this action caused the then vice president subsequently to call the meetings to order and immediately turn the gavel over to Mansfield.

Office Too Small
Johnson at least sat in on these meetings. Humphrey has been relegated to the corridors or calling around to their offices to buttonhole senators in behalf of Johnson proposals. He has been working recently to attempt to soften the House-passed ban on further shipment of food commodities to the United Arab Republic.

The fact that he is attached to the Senate as its presiding officer but is not of it has been brought home to Humphrey by his inability to wangle what he regards as suitable office space in the Capitol. Johnson, who was in possession of it, kept a lavish office across a corridor from the Senate chamber, as well as a ceremonial room just off the Senate floor, quarters in the Senate Office Building and additional rooms in the basement of the Capitol.

The best Humphrey has been able to do is to retain a Senate Office Building suite, hold on to the ceremonial room and obtain the small, outer reception room adjoining Johnson's former office.

Ceremonies On Calendar
Neither did the new vice president get to move into the offices President John F. Kennedy turned over to Johnson in the Executive Office Building across from the White House. Humphrey moved in on the floor below.

Although he was bypassed in the selection of the American delegation to Sir Winston Churchill's funeral, Humphrey has found himself tapped for other ceremonial duties.

On his calendar today was a scheduled presentation of the annual Heart of the Year award to Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball team, and the receipt of a woolen coat woven by the Aztec Indians of Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula on a loom provided by CARE.

Humphrey hasn't spent much time in his constitutional job of presiding over the Senate. He has been too busy with overseeing the administration's civil rights and antipoverty program and boning up on his assignment as chairman of the Space Advisory Council.

Thousands Visit Churchill Grave

BLADON, England (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's grave, a small rectangular plot heaped with wreaths of flowers in a quiet, country churchyard, is attracting thousands of visitors.

Police estimated that more than 125,000 persons filed past the spot in Bladon Sunday where the great statesman was laid to rest Saturday.

Wrapped in coats, blankets and ski suits, the mourners paused at the graveside at St. Martin's church to read messages on the wreaths. Many wept.

"To my darling Winston — Clemmie," read one of the wreaths, from Lady Churchill, whom he often referred to as "my darling Clementine."

"For our beloved grandpa, from his loving grandchildren, Nicholas, Emma, Jeremy, Charlotte and Rupert," said another.

Bladon, a hamlet of 413 persons in Oxfordshire, had been content to remain in obscurity for centuries. Sunday the crowds streamed into the tiny churchyard, their autos jamming the church's tiny parking lot.

Police officers directed the overflow to a field a half mile down the road.

"This sort of thing is going to happen, possibly not on the same scale, at weekends and holidays from now on," said a Bladon official.

In Melbourne, Australia, Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced plans to raise $2.24 million for a Churchill memorial trust fund for scholarships.

"We think that there ought to be established, not only here but in other countries and in the United States, a system of Winston Churchill scholarships or fellowships," he said.

Docks Stay Idle For 22nd Day

BALTIMORE (AP) — A revised contract went to rank-and-file Baltimore longshoremen today with the blessings of union leaders as docks from Maine to Texas stood idle for the 22nd day.

In three other ports dockworkers continued to bargain for new work agreements based on the so-called New York master contract approved more than a week ago.

Atlantic and Gulf coast ports have been shut down since Jan. 10 when the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association went on strike.

The IILA says no ships will be worked until all ports in its jurisdiction have settled. Members of the six locals here began voting at 8 a.m. on a contract hammered out over the weekend at bargaining sessions attended by Thomas W. Gleason, leader of the 60,000 striking dockers.

Gleason, IILA president, described the new Baltimore agreement as "better than New York's," and put his weight behind it, as have the leaders of the six locals.

Officials of four of the locals had asked a negative vote on a proposal that was rejected last Wednesday 1,371 to 1,016.

Several changes, including the elimination of a controversial jurisdictional clause, have led Gleason and IILA Vice President William Haile to predict ratification today.

Gleason, before he left Baltimore Sunday, spoke of "terrific pressure" being applied by Washington to get the strikers back on the job.

The strike has cost the nation's economy an estimated $1 billion.

Senate Inquiry Aims At Quacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators urged today a federal war on quacks and schemes aimed mainly at the pitchmen who profit on crooked elderly.

A report to the Senate by its subcommittee on frauds and misrepresentations affecting the elderly charged that unscrupulous operators are milking millions of dollars every year from the skimpy retirement incomes of the aged.

The subcommittee said an accurate count is impossible, but added that $1 billion a year "was mentioned most often" by knowledgeable witnesses in its 1964 hearings.

The report said quacks sell the elderly everything from phony arthritis "cures" to devices "guaranteed" to restore youth and remove wrinkles. "It is shameful that the eld-

Camden Bank $11,089 Theft Puzzles Police

CAMDEN (AP) — State police not only are interested in who it was but what it was that robbed the Camden branch of the Litchfield State Savings Bank of $11,089.

It might have been one man and two women or two men and one woman or three men who robbed the bank Saturday. The police really aren't sure because of conflicting reports by witnesses.

The three employees and nine customers in the bank at the time of the robbery told police they were certain one of the gunmen was a man. But they weren't sure about the other two.

Edmond Dodson, branch manager, said the two were dressed as women. He said they were heavily made up and wore high heels and sunglasses. Dodson said, "I saw one of them walk across the bank, and I am pretty certain she was a woman for she had slim ankles. I can tell a woman's legs."

Police said the two had their heads covered and wore stretch pants.

One of those dressed as a woman may have been a man. Dodson said this one appeared a bit wavy on high heels and finally caught one in a floor heating register. "He or she was pretty awkward," Dodson said. He said the male bandit held a gun on him and ordered him to open the vault.

When it was open, the other two stuffed money into a wastebasket and the trio then fled in a stolen car. The car later was recovered just over the Indiana line from Camden. It had been stolen in Fayette, Ohio, Friday. Indiana and Ohio police joined Michigan authorities in a hunt for the robbers.

Defense Chief McNamara Has Viral Pneumonia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has a "moderate case of viral pneumonia," it was announced today.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told newsmen that the condition showed up in X-rays over the weekend after McNamara was admitted Friday to the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

His illness at the time was diagnosed as an upper respiratory infection, or bad cold.

Sylvester said that McNamara's temperature today is normal and that his condition is good. He is in bed and his stay in the hospital is indefinite, Sylvester said.

Ellington Heads Relief Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named former Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington to head the Office of Emergency Planning which handles operations such as relief to disaster-struck areas.

If confirmed by the Senate, Ellington, 57, will succeed Edward A. McDermott in the $28,500-a-year post. It carries with it membership on the National Security Council.

McDermott resigned to join a Washington law firm.

Johnson announced Ellington's appointment Sunday night. The President said that Deputy Director Franklin B. Dryden would act as head of the OEP pending Ellington's confirmation.

Ellington, a close personal and political friend of Johnson, was vice chairman of the Citizens for Johnson National Committee during the President's unsuccessful bid for the 1960 presidential nomination. A frequent White House visitor in the past year, he has long been considered in line for a top federal appointment.

He said he would resign the post as vice president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad which he has held since his term as governor ended in 1963.

Great Blizzard Hits Northwest

By The Associated Press

A massive storm carrying heavy snow and powerful winds lashed portions of the Northwest and Midwest today while extreme cold stung portions of the South and Florida.

Blizzard conditions prevailed from Minnesota and South Dakota southward through Missouri and Kansas. Cold-wave warnings were issued for north-eastern New Mexico.

Heavy snow and hazardous-driving warnings were posted for Illinois, Ohio, southern Wisconsin and Lower Michigan where the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted 4 to 6-inch snow accumulations.

Winds Up To 60 MPH

Four inches of snow fell in Denver, Colo., in a six-hour period and winds gusted up to 45 miles per hour, reducing visibility to zero.

Five inches fell in Minneapolis, 3 in Rochester and Alexandria, Minn., and Lone Rock, Wis.

Some winds reached up to 60 m.p.h. in South Dakota and Nebraska. Broken bow in central Nebraska reported wind gusts up to 80 m.p.h.

A hard freeze struck northern Florida and frost and freezing temperatures prevailed in most of the southern sector.

The storm began in Montana early Sunday and moved swiftly in a wide belt toward the Midwest. Rock slides in Idaho closed U.S. 12.

Gusty winds and heavy snow swept through Colorado, closing mountain passes.

Motorists were stalled on Denver streets. The temperature dropped 26 degrees in one hour after the storm hit the state. Eight hundred skiers

Backers Predict Speedy OK For Appalachia Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on the Appalachia aid bill, and its backers predict approval by a wide margin.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called the Senate into session two hours early and scheduled a midafternoon roll-call vote on the $1.09-billion measure aimed at improving the economies of 11 states. Most of the money would be spent on building new roads.

Several amendments were to be voted on first but the bill's mandant, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert had invited Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to the ceremony, but McNamara was hospitalized late last week with a cold and slight fever.

LeMay so far has kept to himself his plans in his new career as a civilian after 36 years as a military man.

He also has confined his opinions about the way things are run in the defense establishment to testimony before congressional committees. Now he will be able to speak out publicly if he wishes.

As Air Force chief of staff, he has been less than happy with some of McNamara's decisions and policies. His occasional testimony showed that.

He has been particularly concerned over the refusal to permit a start on producing a modernized family of manned bombers instead of merely extending the life of subsonic but long-range B52s. He had reservations about going into full-scale production of the TFX, now called the F111—fighter of the design accepted by McNamara.

Backers Predict Speedy OK For Appalachia Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on the Appalachia aid bill, and its backers predict approval by a wide margin.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called the Senate into session two hours early and scheduled a midafternoon roll-call vote on the $1.09-billion measure aimed at improving the economies of 11 states. Most of the money would be spent on building new roads.

Several amendments were to be voted on first but the bill's managers said they were confident of defeating all of those designed to reduce the scope of the legislation.

More Proposals Coming

Sponsors had feared the biggest threat to the measure came from senators who wanted to add amendments to establish similar aid programs in their states.

But it appeared during the opening day of debate last Friday they had convinced all of the authors of such proposals to wait for general legislation which may be considered later.

This plan, embodied in a bill offered by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., would authorize the President to set up regional development commissions in any part of the country, at the request of two or more governors, if the area met the test of high unemployment and other economic distress.

The administration said it would look with favor on a measure of this sort.

President Johnson, who has given top priority to the Appalachia bill, had made it clear he does not want extraneous amendments added to it.

Eleven States Benefit
The bill's sponsors said they were mostly concerned about an amendment of Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

This would strike a $17-million land stabilization, conservation and erosion control section.

In the 1964 version of the measure, this was called a pasture improvement section. It aroused the opposition of Western senators who felt it might be used to encourage cattle production in the Appalachia area in competition with their livestock industry.

The bill's managers agreed to drop the provision before the legislation passed the Senate last year.

This time, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., the bill's chief sponsor, said he would fight to retain it. He said the purpose had been changed so that the funds no longer would be used to introduce beef cattle into the region.

About 15 million persons live in the Appalachia area which covers all of West Virginia and parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Kremlin May Take Hand In Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials today welcomed the Soviet Union's favorable response to President Johnson's call for top-level visits and contacts between the two countries. They were less certain, however, about what to make of the Soviet Union's unexpected diplomatic intervention in war-torn Southeast Asia except that it will probably raise new problems for both the United States and Red China.

The two apparently unrelated developments, announced in Moscow Sunday, led Washington authorities to conclude that the new regime in Moscow has now made some basic foreign policy decisions and is ready to initiate action.

Reply Expected

The response to Johnson's initiative, which the President made in his State of the Union message a month ago, took the format of a commentary in the Communist party paper Pravda, which U.S. leaders were sure was officially inspired.

The comment declared that Johnson's proposal for visits and for increased contacts between U.S. and Soviet officials had "met with a positive response in the Soviet Union."

Informants here said there had been some advance word to the United States that a favorable, informal reply would be forthcoming. They called the Pravda commentary encouraging and speculated that diplomats of the two countries would soon begin exploratory talks about top-level visits.

Johnson had said he would like the new Kremlin leaders to come to this country and speak to the American people on television. He made clear that he would welcome a reciprocal invitation to visit the Soviet Union and appear on Soviet television.

New Policy Adopted?

A few hours before the Pravda article was published the Tass news agency disclosed that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would head a high-powered delegation of Soviet military, aviation and economic experts on a visit to North Viet Nam.

This seems to mean that Kosygin and Soviet Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who replaced Premier Khrushchev last October, have decided to abandon Khrushchev's hands-off policy in Southeast Asia and try to play a vigorous role in the politics of conflict in that part of the world.

Washington authorities doubted that the two separate announcements were merely coincidental. They were inclined to think Soviet leaders were trying to indicate to Washington that any Russian move to intervene in Southeast Asia was not intended to strain relations between Washington and Moscow.

Aimed At Red China

This view was based in part on a longstanding belief of policymakers here that the Soviet Union does not stand to profit by expanding war between North and South Viet Nam or between North Viet Nam and Laos.

There was some expectation that Kosygin probably would undertake to make a strong agreement of aid and support for Communist North Viet Nam but that this agreement would be essentially defensive in nature and might even lead eventually to some brake on North Vietnamese aggression in Laos and South Viet Nam.

One result of the new Soviet moves was considered here to be reasonably predictable: a deeper wedge between the Soviet Union and Red China. In recent years, Red China's influence in North Viet Nam has been predominant.

Musicians Visit Russia

Moscow's announcements came only hours after the State Department had announced stepped-up cultural exchanges during 1965 between the United States and the Soviet Union.

A number of top U.S. musicians, including pianist Van Cliburn, violinist Isaac Stern and singers Jerome Hines and Mary Costa, as well as the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra and the Juilliard Quartet, will visit the Soviet Union.

Christ The King Near Fund Goal

Sunday was a "big day" for members at Christ the King Lutheran Church on Escanaba's Northside. At both worship services nearly one third of the congregation were "commissioned" as Canvass Callers in the Stewardship Fund Drive to build a new church, following the message delivered by Pastor Roy R. Finch, Crusade director.

Callers were pleased to learn that nearly $35,000 had already been pledged by the Church Council, Crusade Executive Committee, and Canvass Callers before they went out for pledges from the remaining two thirds of the congregation.

According to the Rev. Erland E. Carlson, pastor at Christ the King, there are still a number of calls remaining to be made on Monday night and later which will boost the total pledges received well over the $55,000 goal, for the three year pledge period.

The congregation of 305 confirmed members expects to receive an additional $20,000 each year for current budget expenses including benevolent needs of the total Church throughout the world or $60,000. This will make a combined total giving of $115,000 for both the building fund and budget expenses for the three year period.

Members on the various committees for building a new church will now continue to write their program of building needs for the architect with new and increased interest while the money received is invested until the day that the new Christ the King Lutheran Church is completed.

Visitors To State Parks Spend Millions

In their pursuit of outdoor fun, recreationists using state parks routed an estimated $47.2 million into the tills of Michigan grocery stores, gas stations, and other businesses during 1964, according to the Conservation Department.

The figure is based on spending by 13.8 million day users and an unprecedented 235,600 camping families. It includes $38 million from daily visitors and $9.2 million contributed by campers. One-third of the camping total was brought into Michigan by out-of-state vacationers.

Tahquamenon Falls State Park was the most frequently visited unit in the Upper Peninsula, while Ludington state park drew all other parks in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Placing immediately behind the Grand Haven and Holland units in daily attendance were Waterloo recreation area, Warren Dunes state park, and Yankee Springs recreation area, in that order.

Higgins Lake state park hosted the largest number of campers. Next on the list for camper use were Straits state park, Waterloo recreation area, Brimley state park, and Tahquamenon Falls State Park.

Sub-Zero Cold Forecast Here

Cloudy with occasional snow and steadily dropping temperatures to a low of about 12 degrees below zero tonight is forecast for the Escanaba area.

The Weather Bureau reports that the high on Tuesday will reach only about 7 above and that the outlook for Wednesday is for snow flurries and continued cold. At 10 a.m. today the high was 13 above.

The State Highway Department said nearly all of Michigan got some overnight snow, ranging from one or two inches in the Upper Peninsula to six to 12 inches along Lake Michigan.

Muskegon reported 12 inches by early today, bringing the city's total snow depth to 27 inches. Sault Ste. Marie reported 30 inches on the ground, followed by Pellston with 28 and Houghton with 24.

When the snow stops it will turn much colder, the weather bureau said. It forecast lows for the state of from five above to 15 below.

The five-day forecasts issued this morning indicated continuing cold weather, with temperatures across the state averaging from 10 to 15 degrees below the seasonal averages.

Once again many Long Distance rates are reduced

Low Evening Rates now apply to daytime calls on Saturday. Low Night Rates now in effect anytime on Sunday and one hour earlier on other nights.

Since the first coast-to-coast telephone call in January, 1915, improvements in technology have repeatedly led to better telephone service. These developments have been most effective in reducing the cost of calls over the longer distances.

The reduction in Long Distance telephone rates effective February 1st of this year is a good example of how these savings have been passed on to you.

Here's what it now costs you to make a 3-minute station call from Michigan:

	To Anywhere in Continental U.S. (except Alaska)	To Anywhere in Michigan
Mon.-Fri. 4:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. (Day Rates)	$2.10 or less	$1.00 or less
Saturday 4:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mon.-Fri. 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. (Evening Rates)	$1.40 or less	$.70 or less
Sunday anytime Mon.-Sat. 8 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. (Night Rates)	$1.00 or less	$.50 or less

The above rates apply only to station calls. They do not include the 10% Federal excise tax which applies to all calls, or the 4% State sales tax which applies only to calls within Michigan. Rates for "collect" station calls between points in Michigan are somewhat higher.

Apartment Fire Claims Life Of Raymond Royea

Fire that swept through an upstairs apartment early Sunday claimed the life of a Negaunee young man who had lived in Escanaba for only four months.

Raymond R. Royea, 23, a manager trainee at Neisner Brothers store, was dead when firemen reached his body in an apartment on the second floor of a frame building at 1117 1st Ave. N.

The call to the Escanaba fire department came at 5:25 a.m. Sunday. Within minutes they had worked their way into the three-room apartment where Royea lived alone.

The young man's body was found on the floor near a doorway leading from the bedroom. Apparently he had awakened, attempted escape, was overcome by the heat and fumes of the fire and collapsed, said Fire Chief Nels Bergeon.

Body To Negaunee
The fire chief said it was indicated that Royea was smoking in bed, causing the fatal fire. The blaze spread from the bed to a night stand, thence to the floor of the bedroom, and was then carried in the walls to the attic and roof.

Police summoned the ambulance and the body was removed to the morgue at St. Francis Hospital, after the medical examiner visited the scene and reported that Royea's death was caused by the fire.

John Valach, manager of the Neisner store, said the young man came to Escanaba from Negaunee and that he was employed as a manager trainee for the past four months. The body was shipped to the Koskey Funeral Home at Negaunee.

The building, which houses the Tebear Sewing Center on the first floor, is owned by Norman Tebear. The damage to the building and its contents was extensive and is partly insured. The apartment that Royea had occupied was in the rear upstairs.

House Damaged
Another fire badly damaged a dwelling at 2015 16th Ave. N. at 7:10 p.m. Sunday, firemen reported.

The second fire of the weekend was in an unoccupied residence owned by Vagn Gydesen, who had recently had the place remodeled. The blaze started from an overheated furnace and worked its way up through the dwelling, causing extensive damage before firemen could bring it under control.

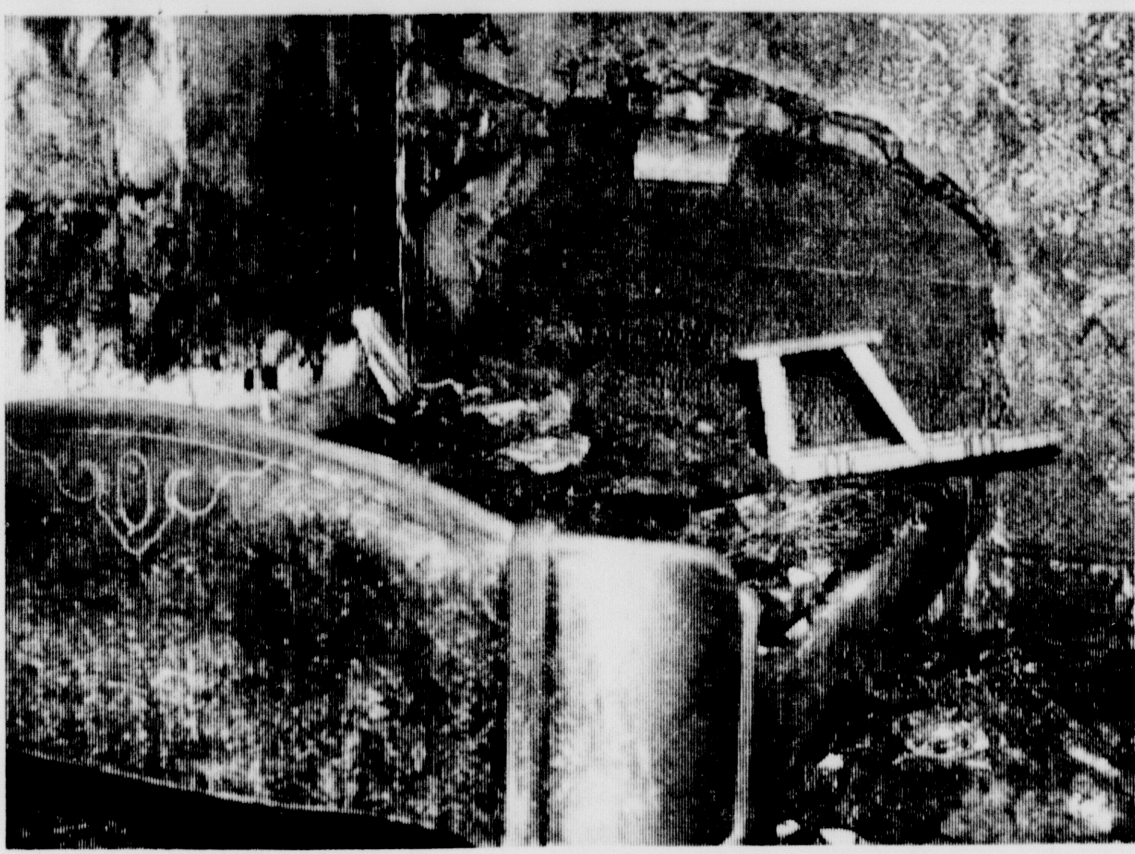

Mr. Royea was born in Ishpeming Aug. 9, 1941, and lived in Negaunee the greater part of his life.

He was a graduate of St. Paul's High School and a member of St. Paul's Catholic Church, Negaunee. He served four years in the U.S. Navy and was discharged a year ago as a Petty Officer, Third Class.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Royea, Negaunee; one sister, Mrs. Donald (Marion) Mix, Milwaukee; three brothers, Robert, Marquette, James, Milwaukee, Thomas, Negaunee; his grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Hensen, Negaunee.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. Paul's Church with the Rev. Robert Cordy officiating. Burial will be in Negaunee Cemetery. Friends may call at the Koskey Funeral Home, Negaunee, after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

FATALLY BURNED when fire started in or near this bed was Raymond R. Royea, 23, of Negaunee, who had been employed in Escanaba for four months. Royea had occupied an apartment on the second floor at 1117 1st Ave. N. (Police Dept. Photo)

Crafts Council Iron Mt. Fair To Stress Wood

Iron Mountain gets this year's Upper Peninsula Crafts & Native Industries Exhibit and Conference on Saturday, May 8 and its theme, "Creative Use of Wood in the Crafts," will be exemplified in both current crafting and in exhibits of historical usage.

Charles Follo of Escanaba was named chairman of the committee in charge of this year's craft show by the Upper Peninsula Crafts Council meeting last Saturday at Northern Michigan College, Marquette. Mrs. Milton Scherer, of Sault Ste. Marie, president of the Council, presided.

The Council awarded the 1966 crafts show to Sault Ste. Marie and the 1967 show to Marquette. The growing popularity of the exhibit is bringing it increasing invitations from Peninsula cities which want it as a stimulation for local crafts artistry and industry.

The Council will work with a local committee headed by Mrs. Loren Johnson of Iron Mountain, who is the daughter of Dr. Otto Hult of Gladstone and the wife of Dr. Loren Johnson, former Escanaban, in staging the Iron Mountain crafts show at Iron Mountain High School.

"We hope," said Follo "that craftsmen executing crafts for the show will incorporate wood in as many as possible — along with silver, and agates and other Upper Peninsula materials — to exemplify the theme of the show this year."

"We plan to bring a wood carver to the show to demonstrate in workshop sessions modern crafting by carving in wood. And we are also planning on bringing a designer to the show to counsel artists and craftsmen on design in workshop sessions."

The Iron Mountain show will not permit sales, but will encourage attendance at the other crafts fairs planned for the Upper Peninsula this year. They include the "Arts on the Rock" show at Marquette July 23, the Copper Country Exhibit and Fair at Eagle Harbor Aug. 14-15; the Eastern Upper Peninsula Crafts Council Fair at Sault Ste. Marie in the summer and the Crafts Fair at Hessel in the summer.

Crafts Council members were encouraged to cooperate with sponsors of Michigan Week observance May 16-22 in the supply of Made-in-Michigan handicraft exhibits.

Reducing The Tolls

Congressman Raymond Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) now working like a good new broom to help the Upper Peninsula, which composes most of his new 11th Congressional District, does not favor the reduction of tolls on the Mackinac Bridge.

This is seemingly a strange position for a person dedicated to the good of the Upper Peninsula, as the U.P. has been calling for reduction of the bridge tolls. (They're $3.75 a car, one way, now.)

But Congressman Clevenger is consistent. He opposes a reduction in tolls because he says it could be the kind of palliative that might delay solution of the Mackinac Bridge problem. He thinks that only removal of the tolls will solve the problem.

He is at present, he said, documenting his position so that he can give it both barrels. He regards it as highly discriminatory to the Upper Peninsula that the State of Michigan, operating a state highway system with some 1,100 bridges, charges tolls at only one of them—the Mackinac bridge.

The State could plead precedent (it operated pay-to-ride ferries before it built the bridge), special circumstances (the bridge cost $100,000,000; no other bridge cost so much), that it subsidizes the bridge (over $400,000 a year for maintenance; about the loss on the ferries) and contractual obligations (it was built as a private venture when the Michigan Legislature refused to use the state's bonding credit to finance it) but Clevenger will answer:

"I will plead the equal protection right guaranteed by the constitution."

Clevenger cited that although the new River Rouge highway bridge cost the state more than $30 million without site, it was not proposed that there be a toll for its use. Only the Upper Peninsula, cut off from the rest of Michigan by the Straits of Mackinac, is so discriminated against by state highway bridge policy.

This argument is all after the fact, of course. Michigan's lawmakers refused to replace the toll ferries with a toll free bridge so a compromise was authorized. Private investors built the bridge and set the tolls to assure repayment of their investment. Even this package had to be sweetened by the Legislature with pledge of almost half a million dollars a year in maintenance subsidy before they would invest.

Now the Legislature seems more inclined to use the state's credit to finance the bridge. But if it is to be refinanced the bondholders must be paid a premium to accept early repayment.

And the saving of a million dollars a year in interest would only reduce the toll 75 cents or $1. That's not enough, says Clevenger; the bridge should be toll free, like all the other intrastate bridges in Michigan. More power to him if he can arrange it. Meanwhile, even a buck off on the toll would be welcome.

When the bridge was built it was with the only financing arrangement possible at that time. The bridge is an enormous improvement on the ferries as a traffic facility and greatly enhances inter-peninsula transportation. It creates a big potential for Upper Peninsula growth that hasn't been fully realized yet.

Having built the bridge, Michigan should now seek greater use of it to develop the state.

Clevenger's view of the bridge problem is not that of State Senator Thomas Schweigert (R-Petoskey) who is backing one bill and introducing another to refinance the bridge bonds so that the tolls may be reduced. Schweigert thinks that this is the proper first step toward the eventual goal of providing a toll free Mackinac Bridge, which he regards as unobtainable immediately. The Michigan Legislature, which will probably be the chief architect of change at the bridge, seems nearer Schweigert than Clevenger in opinion.

Gags Salve Scars

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For all outward appearances, the recent Republican National Committee meeting in Chicago might well have been a victory celebration.

The well-advertised ideological split within the GOP ranks was hardly noticeable. Except for a few hard-hitting speeches, the participants joked their way through the crowded schedule in an atmosphere of conviviality.

Presidential nominee Barry Goldwater set the tone for the meeting when he recalled his election defeat:

"It reminded me of the battle of the Little Big Horn where Gen. Custer had such a bad night. I had one pretty much like it except that I got out with my hair."

William Miller, vice presidential nominee, slipped on some ice in Buffalo and landed on his face before the meeting opened. He arrived in Chicago sporting a shiner and a large bandage over his eyebrow.

Catching his first glimpse of Miller at an evening reception, a reporter asked:

"Where'd you get that black eye?"

A companion answered jokingly:

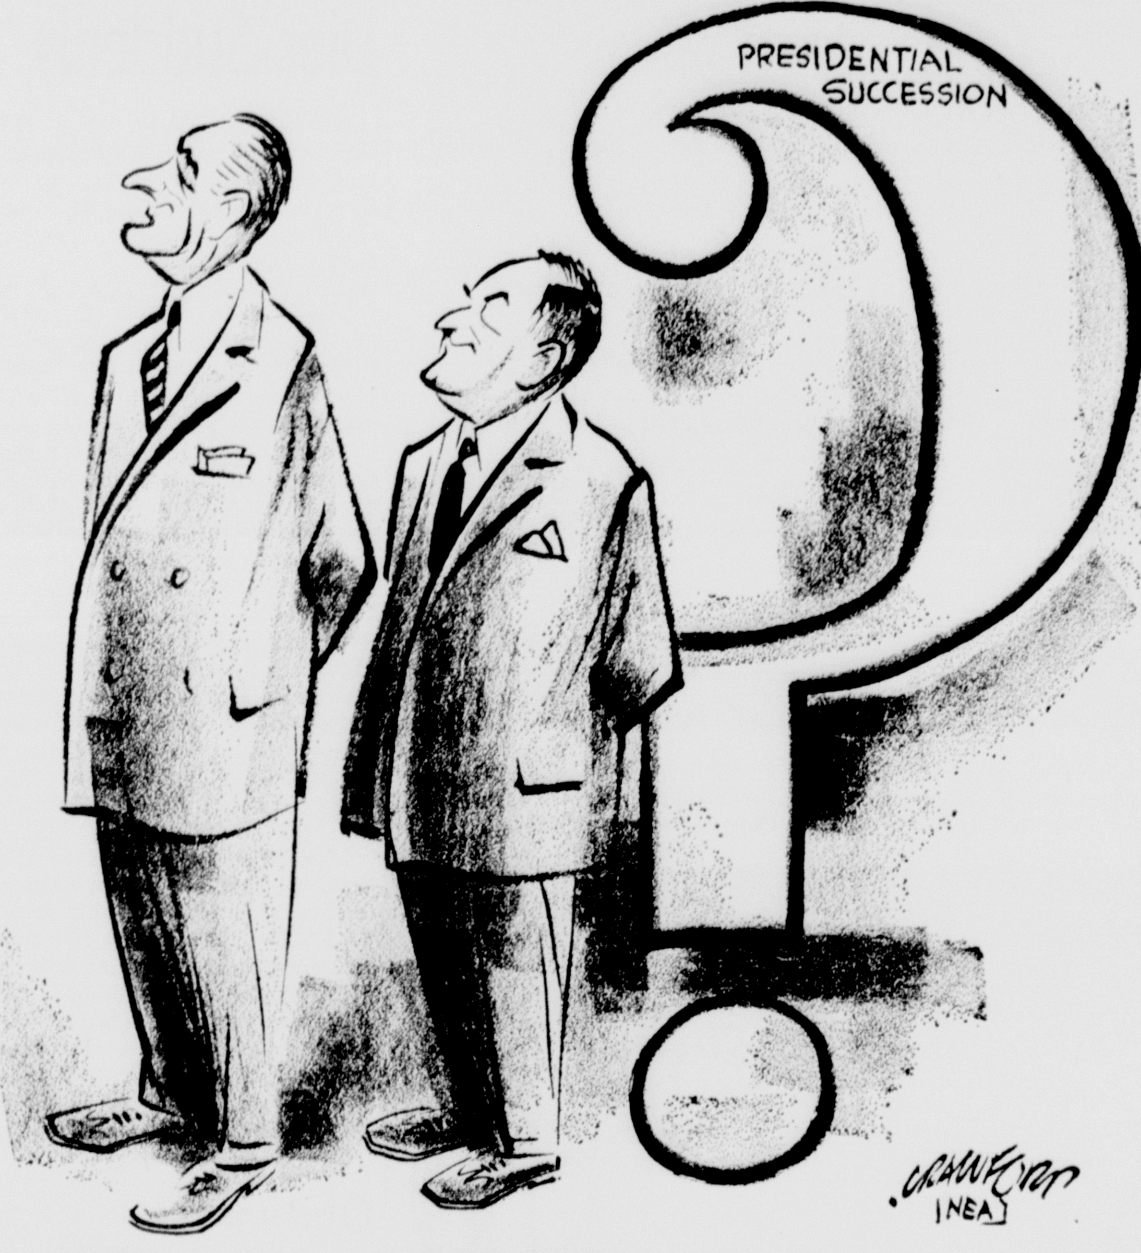

"He walked into a door. Let me see now, when was it? Oh, yes, last Nov. 3."

Welcoming Miller to the podium the next day, retiring GOP National Chairman Dean Burch also noticed the shiner:

"Here's William Miller, our vice presidential nominee. He does a little boxing on the side."

At the close of his own speech, Miller expressed regret that his wife, Stephanie, wasn't present. "She refused to come out here," he said, "and help me explain HOW I got this black eye."

Question Before the House---and Senate

Sponberg Heads Eastern Michigan U At Ypsilanti

Dr. Harold E. Sponberg, who for five years was vice president, academic affairs, of Northern Michigan University, Marquette, has been named the new president of Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti to succeed Dr. Eugene B. Elliott.

Dr. Harold E. Sponberg

Dr. Sponberg, 46, is now president of Washburn University in Topeka, Kan. During his years at Northern he was so active in educational and civic roles that the Upper Peninsula regards his promotion to the prexy's job at Ypsilanti as an honor for the U. P., as well as Northern and Sponberg.

His wit is well remembered in the Peninsula. Presiding as master of ceremonies at a dinner in Ishpeming he introduced himself as an alumnus of Gustavus Adolphus College — "built on a bluff and run on the same principle."

Sponberg's appointment becomes effective July 1.

A native of New Richland, Minn., he went to Washburn in 1961 following his years as vice president of Northern. He became Washburn's ninth president, succeeding Dr. Bryan S. Steffer who died in March, 1961. "The decision to leave Washburn was reached after long and soul-searching deliberation," said Dr. Sponberg. "However, the professional opportunities at Eastern Michigan University present a challenge which I felt compelled to accept."

Dr. Sponberg was selected from a field of more than 100 candidates for Eastern's presidency. Edward J. McCormick, chairman of EMU's eight-member Board of Regents, said:

"Eastern Michigan University is honored that a man of Dr. Harold E. Sponberg's experience and ability is accepting the challenge of the presidency of our university."

Founded in 1849, Eastern Michigan University is one of America's oldest teacher training institutions. The university consists of four colleges of 8,500 students, including 1,700 graduate students pursuing master's degrees in 13 fields. There are 570 faculty members on the 200 acre campus, soon to be extended another 142 acres. A five year $15 million building expansion program is now in development. The 1975 estimate is for 20,000 students.

Dr. Sponberg has a wide educational background. Prior to entering Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., where he received his AB degree, he taught in an one teacher rural school. Recipient of the Schleuder medal, awarded annually to the outstanding graduate, Dr. Sponberg was active in college debate and oratory. An outstanding football player, he received Little All-America recognition in 1939.

Following one year teaching in Madison, South Dakota High School, he continued his studies at the University of Minnesota where he received his master's degree in 1942 with honors in psychology and rhetoric. Soon thereafter he was commissioned and served in the U. S. Navy submarine forces, participating in numerous combat patrols in the Pacific.

In 1946 Dr. Sponberg began an eight year period at Michigan State University. He served as an assistant professor of English, assistant dean of students, director of the Educational Placement Bureau and professor of education. In 1952 he was granted a Doctor of Philosophy degree with major fields of study in the history and philosophy of education and guidance. During 1953 he served as executive secretary of the National 4-H Club Foundation, Chevy Chase, Md. In 1954 he returned to Michigan State to become head of the university's extension division. He held this post until his selection as the first vice president of Northern Michigan University in 1956.

An authority in parliamentary law and procedure, Dr. Sponberg has authored a text book on the subject. He has published numerous articles for professional and educational magazines and journals. An active church member, he has held many civic and church offices and has participated in major policy meetings of the Lutheran Church in America.

A widely traveled and eloquent speaker, Dr. Sponberg is in constant demand for platform appearances in educational, civic and church circles. In 1950, he won the national speech contest sponsored by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Sponberg delivered the dedicatory address at Escanaba Area High School in 1963.

He is a member of numerous professional and fraternal organizations. His wife, the former Grace Miller, a graduate of Gustavus Adolphus College, is a musician. There are five children: Gus, 20, a junior at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill.; Mary, 17, a senior, and Eric, 15, a sophomore in Topeka High School; Ingrid, 11, a sixth grader and Kari, 5.

The Doctor Says:

Diabetic Child Insured

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

I have had occasion to comment in the past on the extreme conservatism of Insurance companies. Now something is being done about it.

Because the Connecticut Diabetes Assn., believes that children with the juvenile type of diabetes should be permitted to enjoy insurance privileges formerly denied them, they are sponsoring the "Insured Security Plan for Diabetic Children."

Sponsorship of an insurance plan by a medical organization for its members is nothing new, but this is probably the first time such an organization has sponsored an insurance plan for a group of patients.

The association hopes that the success of their program will encourage insurers in general to readjust their rates for diabetic children.

This should also have the effect of encouraging employers to hire persons with the juvenile type of diabetes as good risks for prolonged, steady employment.

In this plan no medical examination is required. The plan is open to diabetic children between the ages of 5 and 17. Only one premium is to be paid until the 21st birthday is reached.

Interested parents of diabetic children are urged to write to "Diabetic," P. O. Box 72, Westport, Conn. It should be done at once, because 2,500 applications must be received before March 15 in order to get this program started.

— My 6-year-old daughter is very skinny. She is on the go all the time. How can I get her to gain weight?

A — Underweight in a child may be caused by too much emotional excitement from movies or television, too little sleep, finicky eating habits copied from other members of the family, worry over family quarrels or trying to keep up with an older child.

Your daughter should have a physical checkup to rule out an overactive thyroid, tuberculosis or some other debilitating disease. The treatment will depend largely on the underlying cause.

In general, it is a good plan to offer her nourishing meals in pleasant, peaceful surroundings and nourishing snacks between meals. It may be necessary to give vitamin supplements and to continue them for a week or two after your daughter has begun to make a normal gain in weight.

Memory Lane

By J. R. LOWELL

Ten Years Ago

Many Upper Peninsula residents are somewhat miffed over what appears to be a slighting of this part of the state. Plans for the construction of many miles of four-lane highways crossing the state at the cost of many millions of dollars would touch only St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie and ignore all the rest of this upper section.

This morning's Delta county weather picture includes six inches of snow and more coming down.

The 1,000 or more fans who attended Saturday night's Golden Glove contests here, saw plenty of action with three knockouts and five TKO's. It was declared the best string of bouts ever seen here.

Twenty Years Ago
Fred Johnson was elected president of the Men's Club of the First Methodist church here last evening. Judge William Miller was the speaker of the evening.

Residents of the area have been warned that a nationwide brown-out will go into effect for an hour this evening and that it will be strictly enforced.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Robertson, of Manistique, received a very unique souvenir from Germany, sent to them by their daughter, Lt. Bertha, who is an army nurse in the area. It is a musical cookie jar, many years old.

Thirty Years Ago
John R. Merrifield, prominent Sault Ste. Marie businessman, has been appointed Upper Peninsula Liquor Commissioner, to succeed Marvin L. Coon.

Harold, two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKoskey, of Danforth, died today from diphtheria, with which he had been ill for the past two weeks.

M. J. Redmond, father of Mrs. Anton Weber of Manistique, died today at Cheboygan. Mr. Redmond was an early Manistique pioneer, being one of the first sawyers to operate in the early day saw mills there.

EXPENSIVE OVERSIGHT
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Some 50,000 pieces of city income tax literature were sent back to the printer after a small but potentially costly oversight was noted.

The material contained no identification of the sponsoring organization or the name of an official as required by Ohio law.

The city income tax committee would have been liable to a fine of $300 to $2,000 had the literature been distributed.

Ann Landers

Belt In Teeth Tames Husband

Dear Ann Landers: I am fed right up to here with your stand that there is no justification for striking a mate, regardless of provocation.

You, of all people, Ann Landers, should realize that human beings are not made of stone. Mortal man has his weaknesses. When a person is pushed to the brink he can lose control and behave in a way that is not quite saintly.

My husband, for example, has made a science of needling me. When I reach the limit of my endurance I simply crack him one in the teeth. After that he knocks out for two or three weeks and everything is lovely.

Any physician will tell you that bottled tension can lead to physical illness. I have learned to deal with my problem in a manner that is effective for ME. So why don't you stay out of it?

— ONE BLOW BETTY
Dear One: I didn't write to you Doll. You wrote to me. If you feel you are handling the problem by belting your husband in the teeth — and if he stands for it — it's all right with me.

All experts agree that anger should be worked out of the system. The manner in which people rid themselves of anger is what distinguishes them from the lower animals.

I would suggest that you buy some cheap dishes to throw against the basement walls. Or, when you feel the tension building, scrub a floor or wash a wall or beat a rug. Civilized people vent their hostility on things, not on other people.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old freshman at a fine college in Ohio. I've always been able to cope with whatever came along but this problem has me boxed.

The pressure on coeds to drink with the fellows is getting me down. For several years the students here waged a battle to drink if they wanted to. Now we are involved in another battle — to refrain from drinking if we don't want to.

Last week I spoke in behalf of the "Drys." The next morning five fellows came up to me and said, "Listen, Frosh, button your lip if you want to be considered part of the tradition around here."

Everything else on campus is great. What shall I do? — PAM

Dear Pam: Any girl who believes she has to take the cork out of the bottle to be popular needs an extra cork — for that hole in her head.

A fellow who wants to load a girl with liquor is bad news to begin with. Stick to your principles. You don't need to be the star of the debating team to win your point. The minute you say "no," you've won it.

Dear Ann Landers: I come from a family of civic-minded women. My mother and my grandmother were pillars of society in this community. I feel an obligation to do as they did. Furthermore I enjoy it. My mother has been my mentor and my guide.

This is a particularly hectic year for me. Everything seems to have hit at once. I am on five boards and I hold four important offices. Last week I had to be away from home six evenings.

Friday when I returned from a meeting (at 10:45 P. M.) I found a sitter with the children. My husband had left a note saying a college buddy had come to town and he wanted to show him a good time. It was 2:30 A. M., before he came home — smelling like a distillery.

Any comment? — CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: Since your mother is your "mentor and guide" she should have told you that like fires, husbands often go out when left unattended.

ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," gives sound and solid rules for teenage dating. To receive a copy, enclose with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Watches Need Love And Attention Too

Most of the 13 million Americans who began 1965 with new watches received at Christmas don't know how to take proper care of their new timepieces, according to watch industry researchers. Women, they say, will continue to be the most neglectful, with teenagers a close second.

A man, generally speaking, takes good care of a watch because usually he owns only one, wears it daily, and relies on it continuously. Even so, relatively few men follow the minimum maintenance procedure of having their watches cleaned and oiled once a year.

Most women, on the other hand, own and love more than one watch, but they usually treat a watch as an accessory. They don't wear or wind most of their watches regularly, and they leave them for days and even weeks in dresser drawers, handbags and pockets cluttered with face powder, loose tobacco, perfume, lipsticks and other scratchy trinkets. Their watches almost never get cleaned by a jeweler.

When It Stops
"Most women bring a watch to a jeweler only when it has stopped running and then only weeks after it has stopped running," says the service expert of a nationally known company, "and the jeweler is usually shocked by the condition of the watch. The case may be scratched, the dial may be cracked, and the tiny movement is probably clogged with oil, dried up oil."

Women don't neglect their watches deliberately, he adds, but they somehow feel that any watch will always look beautiful and work perfectly.

"Jewelers tell us that women almost always express shock and surprise when something goes wrong with a watch," he says. "Such feelings are a great tribute to the watch industry, but what most women's watches need is more consideration from their owners."

There's a big difference, the expert points out, between watches that are waterproof and those that are water-resistant.

"You should not go swimming or take a shower or a bath with a watch that's only water-resistant," he says, "but many women don't seem to realize this. Neither do most teen-agers."

Big Difference
The biggest difference of all is between a jewel-lever watch and a pin-lever watch.

"The jewel-lever watch has tiny jewels that guard all important friction points in its movement, thus ensuring reliability and long life," he explains. "But the pin-lever movement has no jewels guarding its important friction points, and so it literally wears itself out."

Even the finest watch must be cleaned and oiled regularly, he adds, and because the movements in ladies' watches are so

Two Fight Off Electric Chair Trip Since 1953

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two Negroes, fighting to escape the electric chair since 1953, will stretch their death row ordeal into a modern record Sunday.

Edgar Labat, 42, and Clifton Alton Poret, 36, codefendants in a rape conviction, extended their grim wait Sunday to 11 years, 10 months, 1 week, and 1 day.

That's one day longer than the time Caryl Chessman lingered on death row. Chessman, who wrote books while trying to evade the executioner, went to California's gas chamber in 1960 amid world attention.

"All the delays are the result of Labat and Poret's own maneuvers," said State Atty. Gen.

Hare Looking For Old Plates

LANSING (AP) — Have you got any old Michigan license plates around your garage? Secretary of State James Hare sure would like to have them.

Hare, who issues more than 4.5 million plates a year to Michigan motorists, is interested in vintage plates—those dating back to 1906 when Michigan first started licensing the gas buggies.

"We're trying to build up a complete collection of plates for an exhibit which can be used at fairs, auto shows and other exhibitions," Hare explained.

"Since we have no money to purchase plates, we are looking for good samaritans to donate them, especially ones issued prior to 1950."

The Department of State has one plate exhibit, which is a permanent feature of the capitol, Hare said, and it is not easily moved.

Hare urged Michigan residents to take the old plates to the nearest Secretary of State branch office.

Officers Will Train At MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University has begun a new two-year officers training program leading to commissioning and possible career assignments in the Army and Air Force.

MSU also has a four-year program. The two-year plan substitutes a six-week summer field training course at an Army or Air Force Base for basic officer training during the freshman or sophomore years.

It will allow transfer students qualify for officer training programs to officer training programs, officials said.

The two-year program was created under the Reserve Officer Training Corps Vitalization Act of 1964. Participation in either program at MSU is voluntary.

Wheat Stocks Up

LANSING (AP) — Michigan wheat stocks, both on and off the farm, were up to 27,502,000 bushels at the start of this year, compared with 18,393,000 on Jan. 1, 1964. The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says. It also reported declines in stocks of oats, from 24,628,000 bushels to 20,753,000 corn for grain, from 89,794,000 to 86,641,000, and soybeans, from 4,682,000 to 3,445,000.

Jack Gremillion. "Louisiana is going to see they pay the penalty for their crime."

Not Speaking

In separate cells overlooking a bluff of desolate scrub trees, Labat, a former hospital orderly, and Poret, once a carpenter's apprentice, apparently live as enemies.

"They're not on speaking terms," said the acting prison warden, Henry L. Hanchey.

Labat — whom Hanchey describes as mild-mannered — received international publicity when the prison abruptly cut off his three-year correspondence with Solveig Johansson, a Swedish housewife.

An official said Negroes and whites could not write to each other from prison. The action touched off front-page headlines in Europe.

Later, the prison said the racial letter ban was a gross error. But it tightened letter writing rules for death row. Under the new rules, Labat and Mrs. Johansson were not allowed to resume writing.

Ironically, Poret has hardly had a word written about him, though, like Labat, he's gone through the same bleak ordeal.

The case, which one judge said seems to have no end, has been to the U. S. Supreme Court four times. For years, the key issue on appeal was whether Negroes were kept off the grand jury that indicted them.

Now In Appeals Court

The high court finally declined to review the question on a technicality. Lawyers had missed a state deadline in filing the appeal. The case is now before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans on the issue — whether Negroes were systematically excluded from the trial jury.

The crime took place in New Orleans. On the night of Nov. 12, 1950, a 24-year-old white woman and her 26-year-old male companion walked along a dimly lighted street.

Two Negroes waylaid them. One of them robbed the man. The other Negro dragged the woman into an alley. With the help of the first assailant, he raped her.

Poret, accused as the rapist, and Labat, identified as his accomplice, pleaded innocent at their joint trial in 1953. They did not testify. An all-white jury found them guilty of aggravated rape. The jury did not recommend mercy.

State Judge Fred W. Oser, who since has died, pronounced the mandatory death sentence on March 23, 1953.

Nigerian Mother Brings Kidney To Save Ailing Son

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Mrs. Asabi Adedire will arrive here from Nigeria Tuesday to bring her son a very special gift—one of her kidneys.

The son, Abraham, is in the University of Michigan Hospital here with what doctors term a potentially fatal "irreversible kidney disease."

Mrs. Adedire and her daughter Janet, were scheduled to end a 7,000-mile flight from Lagos at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport. Tests conducted on the woman in Nigeria indicated both her kidneys are functioning properly.

Doctors plan to transplant one of them into her son. A date for the operation, however, had not been set.

Tickets for the two were financed by the Abraham Adedire Trust Fund established by the hospital and the Ann Arbor Bank.

Northern Joins Winners In Weekend Cage Action

By The Associated Press

Michigan's Big Ten Teams won and lost one as state college clubs battled in 13 weekend basketball games.

Michigan trounced Purdue 98-81 to retain its hold on the Big Ten lead. But Ron Kozlick's layup with six seconds to go gave Northwestern a 77-75 conference victory over Michigan State.

The Wolverines, No. 2 college basketball team in the nation and leaders of the Big Ten, dominated rebounds 62-46 and their edge was 25-10 in the first half.

As Michigan walled off Purdue's Dave Schellhase and held him to two baskets, the Boiler-makers countered by limiting Cazzie Russell to 18 points. But Russell turned feeder and helped Bill Buntin score 25 and Oliver Darden 22.

Bob Purkhiser was high for Purdue with 26 points.

In the other Big Ten contest, the victory was the second for the Wildcats over MSU in the final seconds this season. Last Saturday, Jim Cummins' basket with four seconds left gave Northwestern a 76-75 victory.

MSU held an early 5-0 lead but the Wildcats erased it and twice led by 14 points in the first half. Trailing 42-28, the Spartans came back to cut the halftime lead to 42-40.

Northwestern ran up a 54-44 second half lead but Marcus Sanders, the game's top scorer with 28 points, lifted MSU into a 57-57 tie. From then on it was touch-and-go until Kozlick's winning goal. Jim Pitts led Northwestern with 22 points.

The University of Detroit used its reserves freely as it whipped the University of Toledo 97-66.

Paced by Lou Hyatt's 23 points, Detroit hit on 49 per cent of its field goal tries and one 17 of 18 from the foul line. Detroit is 11-6 and Toledo 6-7 this season.

Gene Summers tossed in 27 points and grabbed 16 rebounds as he led Northern Michigan to a 105-86 victory over Calvin. Northern held a 40-20 lead midway in the first half and dominated the rest of the way. Northern is 10-3 and Calvin is 5-9.

Kalamazoo had no trouble whipping Detroit Tech 103-68. Tom Nicolai dropped in 19 points for the victors although Jim Garza of DIT paced all scorers with 26. Kalamazoo is 4-10 and DIT is 2-16.

Albion edged the University of Chicago 64-63 in a tight contest that was won on Larry Downs' basket with three seconds left to play. Downs led all scorers with 18 points.

Hope had no trouble stopping Elmhurst of Illinois 92-75. Floyd

Brady and Clare Van Wieren powered Hope to the victory as Brady scored 23 points and Van Wieren got 22. The victory was Hope's eighth in 13 games.

Ferris State outlasted a stubborn Hillsdale College team and posted a 96-78 decision for its 15th consecutive victory on its home court. The lead changed hands six times in the opening minutes, but Ferris moved in front 27-25 and never was headed again.

Bob Gibson's 17 points paced Lawrence Tech to a 68-65 victory over Waterloo, Ont. The victory was the fourth in 17 starts for Tech.

St. Cloud of Minnesota lengthened its lead in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference race by stopping Michigan Tech 78-62. It was Michigan Tech's 13th consecutive loss. St. Cloud ran its league record to 5-1. Tech is 0-5 in the conference.

In other games, Detroit Business College beat Western Ontario Tech 91-62. Defiance edged Spring Arbor JC 88-82, and Northwood beat Salem Ohio Tech 115-64.

Wolverines Get Chance To Sit Back For Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan's mighty Wolverines, invincible thus far in the Big Ten basketball race, get a chance to sit back for an entire week to prepare for the conference's biggest surprise — Iowa.

Before the season started, rival coaches admitted Michigan had the talent but bolstered their hopes by scanning the schedule. The schedule showed that of Michigan's seven road games, Iowa and Wisconsin were not included.

That meant Michigan would miss the Big Ten's weaker sisters on the road and would face such contenders as Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana and already disposed of Purdue.

Things have changed after a month of Big Ten activity in which Michigan is the league's only undefeated team with a 5-0 record. The Wolverines can thank their lucky stars they don't face Iowa at Iowa City. Even this break is no assurance that Michigan will not have some trouble with the Hawkeyes. Michigan's next game is a week from Monday night against Iowa. The fact it will be played in Ann Arbor is small consolation.

The Hawkeyes won three Big Ten games last year. Ralph Miller, formerly of Wichita, took over as head coach. He put the Hawkeyes through a rigorous conditioning program.

They're so tough physically that they firmly believe if they are within six points of an opponent at halftime, Iowa will emerge victorious.

Early indications of Iowa's possibilities came in the Los Angeles Classic when the Hawkeyes upset Minnesota. They smashed Wisconsin, downed Michigan State twice and split a pair with Indiana, winning at Indiana after losing at Iowa City to the Hoosiers.

The Hawkeyes might have reached their peak when they defeated UCLA's defending national champions in Chicago Friday night 87-82. UCLA Coach Johnny Wooden said "it certainly was no disgrace to lose to such a team."

Until the big meeting between Iowa and Michigan, Big Ten activity will be limited with teams like Illinois, Minnesota and even Iowa trying to keep within range of Michigan.

Wisconsin is at Notre Dame Monday night and Minnesota takes on Northwestern Tuesday night in hopes of climbing into a second place tie with Iowa. Indiana entertains Loyola of Chicago Thursday night.

Saturday's schedule finds Purdue at Illinois, Northwestern at Iowa, Minnesota at Michigan State and Ohio State at Wisconsin.

Timberlake Inks Lucrative Pact With NY Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Timberlake, Michigan's All-America quarterback who plans to enter the ministry when his football days are done, has signed two contracts with the National Football League New York Giants.

The pacts were signed Saturday. One provided Timberlake with a bonus estimated at just under $100,000. The other provided him with a salary that was about the same as any other club rookie would get for the next two years.

Timberlake, a 220-pounder, guided Michigan to the Big Ten and Rose Bowl crowns this past season.

The third draft choice of the Giants, Timberlake plans to enter the Presbyterian ministry when his playing days are over. He indicated one reason he signed with New York was the club's proximity to the Princeton, N.J., Theological Seminary.

During his final year at Michigan, Timberlake gained 748 yards on 144 running attempts and completed 63 of 127 passes for 807 yards.

Huskies Fall To Michigan

By The Associated Press

The scores were almost identical as Michigan pounded Michigan Tech 6-1 and Minnesota-Duluth beat Michigan State 7-1 in college hockey games Saturday night.

Duluth goalie Bill Halbrekher kicked out 38 MSU shots while Spartan netminder Jerry Fisher had 25 saves in the non-conference game.

Seven Duluth players scored as the team moved in front 2-1 after the first period, scored another goal in the second, then assaulted the Spartan net for four more in the closing stanza.

In a Western Collegiate Hockey Association game, Michigan's Mel Wakabayashi broke a first period tie with a goal in the second period, and the Wolverines raced out in front for good. Six Michigan players accounted for the scoring. Gary Milroy scored Tech's only goal.

Michigan is 6-5-0 in the league and 11-6-1 over-all. Tech is 5-4-1 and 13-4-1.

Esky Sets New Scoring Record Against Indians

By RAY CRANDALL
Press Sports Editor

History books tell us the White Man gave the American Indians $24 worth of beads and trinkets for Manhattan Island. The Newberry Indians weren't treated much better by the Eskymos a couple of hundred years later as Coach Harold Johnson's Escanaba cagers smashed out a 104-61 Great Lakes Conference victory here Saturday night.

The Eskymos set an all-time school scoring record in the top-sided triumph, topping the previous high of 97 compiled against Gladstone Jan. 10, 1961. The total is also a new Escanaba gym record.

There was little indication early in the game that the Eskymos were headed for a record bucket barrage. They threw a full court press on Coach Jack Arduin's visitors, who had bowed to Munising the previous night. It paid off in a 23-17 lead at the end of the initial period. It also led to 11 Escanaba personal fouls from which Newberry connected on 11 of 16 free throw opportunities.

Fans got an indication of things to come in the second quarter, however, as the Eskymos turned on the steam. They crammed 35 points through the nets in that eight minute stretch as Newberry fell hopelessly behind, 58-29.

With four minutes gone in the third quarter the Eskymos had a 68-34 cushion and Johnson threw in his second and third stringers. That move helped the Indians momentarily and they narrowed their margin to 68-42 before the Eskys found the range.

Rick Kutchenberg, Bob Haack and Jim Boyle connected and the Eskymos had a 78-48 lead entering the final quarter.

Reserves continued the assault for Escanaba in the fourth quarter with Kutchenberg, Steve Oman, Boyle and Jerry Hanson triggering the attack. Dave Nyquist, 6 foot 5 inch sophomore making his first appearance with the Eskymos, chipped in a pair of buckets.

Hanson, who has seen limited action following a knee operation for a football injury, put the Eskymos at the century mark with a field goal with 1:38 remaining in the slaughter. Haack hit another bucket and Hanson closed out the scoring with a final field goal in the closing seconds.

Johnson used all 13 players on his squad and the starters saw action in only about half the game. Twelve Eskymos shared in the scoring total, led by sophomore Paul Miller with 27 points. Jim Clairmont tallied 13. Kutchenberg and Paul Meunier 10 apiece.

The victory was Escanaba's third against eight defeats. The set back was Newberry's 12th straight this season.

The Indians were outscored by 30 field goals but took advantage of 32 Eskymo fouls to toss in 35 of 49 free throws. Roland Robinson led three Newberry players in double figures with 16 points.

Escanaba returns to action at Gladstone Tuesday night.

In the jayvee game Saturday night Escanaba scored a 53-51 decision.

Esky Hockey Teams Split

Escanaba's junior hockey teams won one and lost two to outside competition over the weekend.

The Juvenile team dropped a tough 2-1 decision to Eagle River in a fast, action packed game at Eagle River.

Tom Bourdeau scored Escanaba's goal while Don Bradford and Vince Detruzzates registered for the winners. Escanaba outshot Eagle River, 25 to 23, and both goalies turned in outstanding performances.

The Credit Unions Peeewe team was nipped, 6-5, at Eagle River. Dennis Eastman and Bruce Irving scored twice each and Dennis Lancour chipped in a singleton. Other players making the trip with Coach George Petaja were Mike Cousineau, Gary Provo, John Pratt, Lennie Smith, Bob Stone, Kari Hanula, Lennie Pilon, Mark Irving and John Strom.

Saturday the Escanaba Juvenile team thrashed the Newberry Aces, 14-1. Bob St. John and Ricci Waak each scored four goals, John McDonough added two and John Ferrari, Jim Peltier, Tom Bourdeau and Jim Ferrari added singletons.

Esky Juniors Extend String

The Escanaba Junior High basketball team downed Newberry Saturday, 68-24, for its fifth straight victory of the season.

Previous victims were Gladstone, Marquette, Gwinn and Munising. The Junior Eskymos will complete a 10 game schedule against Ishpeming, Marquette, Norway, Gladstone and Munising.

Panama Jockey Is Big Winner

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Panama's contribution to the top jockey ranks, Manuel Ycaza, celebrated on two counts today. It was his birthday — aged 27 — and he won the $124,600 Charles H. Strub Stakes.

"Any race is wonderful to win, but a $100,000 race — that's something special," said Ycaza. As it turned out, the team of Ycaza and the Claiborne Farm's Duel was unbeatable in the Strub, winning by three lengths Saturday.

In the process, they left the overwhelming, odds-on favorite, Hill Rise, in fourth place, four lengths and one nose back.

Hill Rise had his excuses. He was on the inside most of the way and could never beat the traffic jam, which is bad for a horse who prefers to lay well off the pace.

Weather Delays Liston Workout

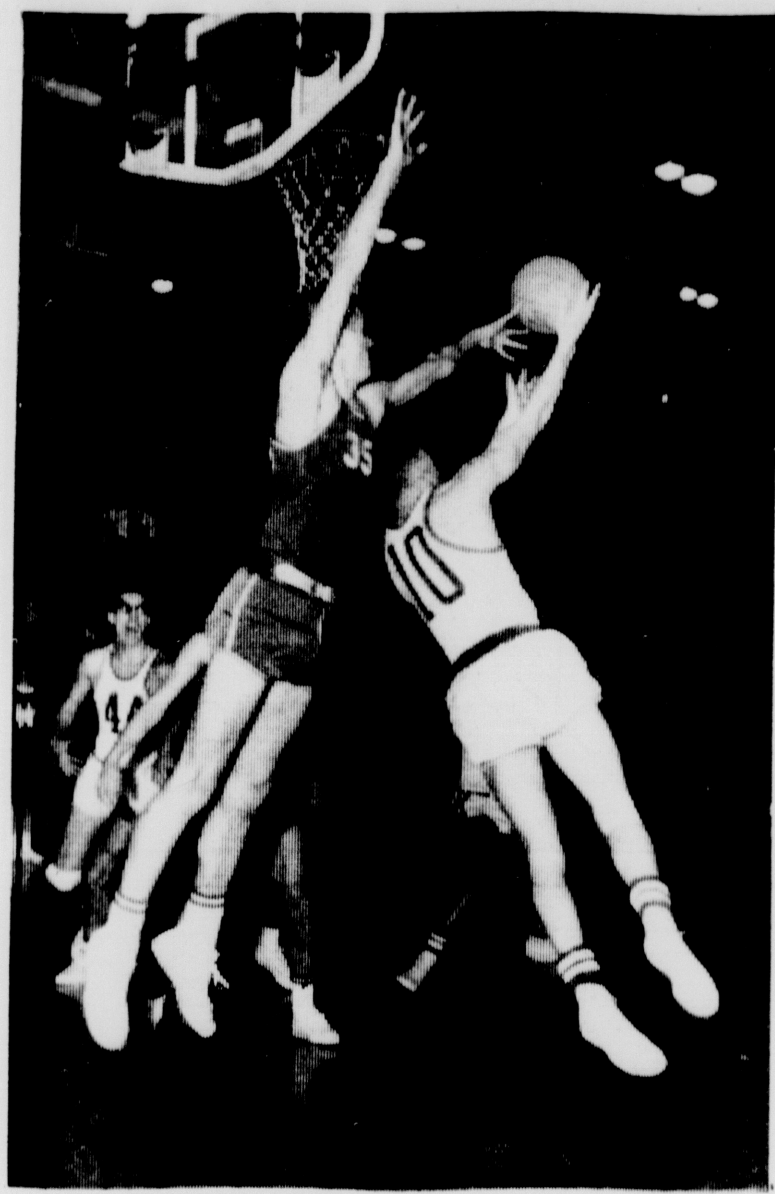

DENVER (AP) — Stormy weather has put off for a couple of days the road training plans drawn up for former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston following his acquittal on drunken-driving charges.

"If you've had a beer don't drive with nobody — walk," was Liston's comment Saturday after the six-member County Court jury found him innocent.

Denver police officers had testified Liston was intoxicated Christmas Day when he drove his 1965 yellow Cadillac into an East Denver restaurant parking lot.

Immediately after the trial, promoters of his return bout with champion Cassius Clay said Liston would begin road work today for the match tentatively set for about May 1 in Boston.

Sellout Tonight As Floyd Faces George Chuvalo

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire Floyd Patterson, the former two-time heavyweight champion who is burning for a third title, faces hungry George Chuvalo of Toronto in a sellout fight tonight that could move the winner into a championship bout.

The 30-year-old Patterson, a 2-1 favorite when the fight was made, was only a 7-5 choice at weigh-in time as support picked up for the 27-year-old Canadian champion, who claims he never has been floored. The 12-round fight is scheduled for 10:30 p. m., EST.

The prospect of a slugging battle between the fast punching weak-chinned Patterson and the aggressive, hard-hitting Chuvalo, has sold out the 18,000-seat Madison Square Garden for the first time since Cassius Clay won a disputed decision over Doug Jones March 13, 1963.

It was this narrow, if controversial victory, that propelled the flamboyant Clay to his title shot with Sonny Liston and the championship.

Jones, too, was the stepping stone for Chuvalo, up to then a mediocre pugilist with a mauling style of fighting. In knocking out the New York contender in the 11th round at the Garden last Oct. 2, Chuvalo moved into the top flight. It only takes one good victory these days to get in with the so-called elite.

Red Wings Stick In Fourth Spot

Only Two Teams Still Unbeaten In U.P. Ranks

By JIM TRETHEWEY
MARQUETTE — And then there were two!

Whether that refrain from an old children's song about "10 Little Indians" will be carried through to its conclusion—as it applies to the all-winning list of Upper Peninsula high school basketball teams—might well be decided this week.

Especially in the case of Negaunee St. Paul, possessor of a 12-game winning streak, which runs into a couple of "spoilers." Hancock, the other undefeated outfit, faces two teams which could be troublesome.

Week by Week the list of unbeaten prep squads has been growing smaller, just like the "Little Indians" in the song. Latest to fall was Eben, which got by high-scoring Trenary only to run into Rapid River on a night when the Rockets had their scoring togs on.

The St. Paul Emeralds of Coach Gordy LeDuc defeated tough Trout Creek by a comfortable 10-point margin Saturday night, but three and possibly four of the six schools they play in the final month of the campaign could be even tougher.

Immediately at hand is a game with Champion, which, while its 6-7 record isn't impressive, has won four of five games at home including an 85-84 triumph over Hermansville. That one-point decision is the only loss for the Redskins, one of the "Little Indians" which dropped out of the all-winning class early in January.

St. Paul will find the going at least as tough when it goes to Marquette Friday for a game with Bishop Baraga. The Royals were the only team which kept St. Paul from completing a perfect season last year, and look capable of doing it again.

Both Calumet and Painesdale, Hancock's foes this week, are enjoying better seasons than a year ago. The latter, particularly, has climbed well up the Copper Country ladder and with a little luck could have had a better mark than the 8-4 record it possesses. Painesdale has played four overtime games; three of its losses came in those extra sessions.

In the final U.P. games in January, Escanaba joined the "century club" by running up a 104-61 margin over Great Lakes Conference opponent Newberry; Pete Wickley hit 28 points as Hancock downed runner-up Ontonagon 68-57. In a Copper Country test, and Negaunee St. Paul overcame an early 12-point deficit in defeating Trout Creek, 63-53.

In addition to Hancock and Negaunee St. Paul, several other teams much in the title picture will be kept busy in "double bills" this week. Stambaugh, staying on Kingsford's heels in the Menominee Range circuit, will play at Crystal Falls and then host Niagara. Wis.: Mass will take part in an exhibition with Doelle and then try to stretch its lead in the Porcupine Mountains Conference against Bergland; Marquette, the only team now given a chance to overtake Stephenson in the Great Lakes Conference.

Fast Finish Trips Arrows

NAHMA—Coach Julian Vandecaveye's Perkins Yellow-jackets finished strong in the final six minutes here Saturday night for a 79-63 Central League victory over the Nahma Arrows.

Coach Seb Rugick's winless Arrows had rallied early in the fourth quarter to tie the score at 55-55, but Dick Krouth tossed in two free throws and John Falkies a field goal to trigger the Perkins victory spurt.

Personal fouls paved the way for Nahma's 12th straight setback. The Arrows lost three players on personals and finished out the game with only three players on the floor. Vandecaveye also pulled two players out of action and went with three players in the final two minutes of action.

Perkins outscored the Arrows by one field goal, 29 to 28, and added 21 of 35 shots from the foul line. The Arrows hit on 7 of 15 from the line.

Falkies fired in 29 points to take individual scoring honors and hauled down 21 rebounds. Terry Larscheid topped the Nahma attack with 24 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Steve Ritter pulled down 14 and Rick Schafer 10 for the Arrows.

Perkins also won the jayvee game, 56-47.

George Archer 'Lucky' Winner

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lucky George Archer, last year a little late and $1.88 short, found himself today in the exclusive circle of the professional golf elite.

Four birdies on his last five holes elevated his status. He won the $8,500 first prize in the $57,500 Lucky International Open Sunday on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff against former British Open champion Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Archer finished his rookie year of 1964 as No. 51 on the money-winning list of the Professional Golfers' Association with $14,867.85, never having won a tournament. Paul Bondeur ranked just above him with $14,869.73. The top 50 win automatic exemptions from qualifying in all PGA tournaments during this year.

So by the margin of $1.88, Archer was scheduled among those who must fire qualifying rounds, take undesirable starting times and otherwise suffer with the tour proletariats.

On Sunday, the 6-foot-6 golfing cowboy from nearby Gilroy changed all this for the rest of the year with 38 tournaments to go. He also qualified for the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas, the National PGA Tournament and put himself in solid position to win an invitation to the Masters.

Archer beat Charles with an eight-foot birdie putt after birdies on the three final holes of the regulation round gave him a 68 and 278 — six under par — for the 72 holes.

An immediate benefit was automatic entry into this week's $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic starting Wednesday in Palm Springs, Calif. In the complicated competition, 128 pros and 384 amateurs play four courses to start, ending up on the Bermuda Dunes Course the final day.

Archer won his first tournament by shooting a last-round, three-under-par 68 over the Harding Park municipal course for a 72-hole total of 278. Charles, only left-handed golfer in history to win a PGA tournament, had a 69 to tie.

Finishing at 281 were third-placers George Knudson and Gardner Dickinson. Bud Holscher and Billy Maxwell of Indianapolis ended at 282.

Thousands Visit Sawyer Carnival

MARQUETTE — Thousands of Michigan residents — including Gov. George Romney and 11th District Rep. Raymond Clevenger — poured into K. I. Sawyer Air Force base over the weekend for the base's "Winter Wonderland" frolic in the snow.

The three-day winter carnival, hosted by the 46th Air Refueling Squadron, closed at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Before it ended, Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) had crowned Rita LaFreniere of Ishpeming as Winter Wonderland Queen, mobs of children had scrambled over and through the snow statues in "Martian Playground" and many adults had taken home medals from athletic competition.

Romney spoke at a luncheon in his honor Saturday and called for continued cooperation between civilian and military communities in the Upper Peninsula, then toured the activities on the base.

"MARTIAN PLAYGROUND" was the theme of the snow sculpture competition in the "Winter Wonderland" carnival at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base over the weekend. The first place winner, pictured above, was a Martian monster built by the 62nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. There were about 20 snow and ice statues in the playground, many of which children were able to use as slides. (Daily Press Photo)
